Dear Readers,

After 17 centuries, the Bishop’s Basilica of Philippopolis is welcoming visitors again.

A New Chapter in the Basilica’s Life

The ribbon-cutting took place on Sunday, April 18, UNESCO World Heritage Day. Follow the Basilica’s Facebook page for updates about this magnificent monument to Bulgaria’s cultural heritage.

The Work of a Thousand ALEs

The return to life of the Bishop’s Basilica was the work of many subject area experts and creative minds. Thanks to design and motion graphics studio FourPlus, visitors can see the place through the eyes of the ancients.

Fancy taking a peek into the interior of the ancient basilica? This is possible thanks to virtual reality creators Animajor.

Find out who the author of the White Peacock gracing the Basilica exterior is. The Basement of Philippopolis boasts a number of architecturally significant quarters.

We were thrilled and she received many thanks from the team. More on her story. Meet the woman behind the author of the Basilica's texts.
